Flinn Classifying Chemical Reactions Lab

The power of chemical reactions to transform our lives is visible all around us—in our homes, in our cars, even in our bodies. Chemists try to make sense of the great variety of chemical reactions the same way that biologists organize their knowledge of life, by sorting reactions into groups and classifying them. Classifying chemical reactions allows us to predict what chemical reactions ...

Classifying Chemical Reactions - Double Replacement

Classifying chemical reactions allows us to predict what chemical reactions will occur when different substances are mixed. Students observe a variety of chemical reactions and identify patterns in the conversion of reactants into products. The properties of the reactions will be analyzed to classify the chemical reactions into different groups.

Gas Forming Reactions typically go to completion because one or more of the products are removed from the reaction vessel via the formation of a gas, which leaves the reaction mixture as bubbles. Gases thus produced include hydrogen sulfide, sulfur dioxide, carbon dioxide and ammonia. Hydrogen sulfide, H_2S , is formed by the direct combination of an acid (source of H^+) and ...
